

If prohibition continues there will be many afflicted with rumatism.

WEATHER
Cloudy Tuesday.

Member of The Associated Press

Truth, Our Guide—The Public Good, Our Aim

Read By Nearly Everybody In Adams County

TWENTY-SECOND YEAR

GETTYSBURG, MONDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 21st, 1925.

PRICE THREE CENTS

GEN. PICKETT'S WIDOW EXPECTED HERE ON SUNDAY

May Be Guest Of Washington Legionnaires, Who Will Picnic On Battlefield.

With Mrs. George E. Pickett, widow of the general whose name is recalled with mention of the Battle of Gettysburg, as expected guest of honor, members of Stuart Walcott post, No. 10, American Legion, Washington, D. C., will hold their annual picnic on the battlefield here next Sunday afternoon.

The caravan of motor cars, in which the trip will be made, will leave the Capital City at 8:30 o'clock, piloted by Lieutenant George E. Pickett, 3rd, grandson of the famous Confederate general.

A stop will be made at Frederick, Maryland, where wreaths will be laid on the graves of Francis Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, and Barbara Fritchie, whose courage inspired the poem which bears her name.

Frederick Reception
After the placing of the wreaths, the Washington Legionnaires will be guests of members of the Frederick post and its auxiliary at a reception and dinner at the Francis Scott Key hotel.

Accompanying members of the Walcott, will be Legion men from the George Washington post, Tank Corps post, the Kenneth M. Nash, and other District of Columbia posts of the American Legion.

The Walcott post has made arrangements to take World War veterans along to make the trip from the Walter Reed, Mont Alto and Naval Hospitals along on the trip.

Julius I. Peyser, commander of the District of Columbia department, American Legion, with Past Commander, Frank L. Peckham, Commander Wallace A. Streeter, of the George Washington post and Commander George Frailey, of the Tank Corps post, have advised the committee in charge of their acceptance of the invitation to join the caravan. Charles Riener is commander of the Walcott post.

Reception Here
Arrangements for meeting and entertaining the visiting Legionnaires and their distinguished guests next Sunday will be made at a meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post this evening at 7:30 o'clock, Commander A. R. Jones announced today. This will be the first meeting of the winter season for the local post.

The Walcott post is one of the most active in Washington. At a recent ball held by it in Washington, 5,000 persons attended, including Vice President and Mrs. Dawes, General J. J. Pershing and other dignitaries in army, navy and civil life.

It was the Walcott post that presented General Pershing with a three-foot loving cup upon his retirement as head of the army. The post was instrumental in assisting the passage of the adjusted compensation bill, which benefitted World War veterans and their dependents.

SISTER OF HIGH CONSTABLE DIES

Miss Nellie E. Aughinbaugh, 58, sister of High Constable George B. Aughinbaugh, York street, who was found dead in bed at her home in Harrisburg, Thursday morning, was buried in Evergreen cemetery, Saturday. The Rev. W. C. Robinson, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church, officiated at the grave.

Miss Aughinbaugh, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Aughinbaugh, and was born and raised in Gettysburg. She moved from there twenty-three years ago.

One brother, George B. Aughinbaugh, is the only survivor.

LEAGUE DIRECTORS BANQUET, SEPT. 30

The annual banquet of the Adams County Baseball League directors, also open to the public, will be held at the Pfaltzgraff Inn, McSherrystown, Wednesday evening, September 30, at 7 o'clock.

Tickets for the banquet have been received here and are available from Manager C. C. "Junie" Bream, manager of the local squad. Gettysburg is expected to be well represented at the banquet, which is an annual affair.

FARM WEATHER REPORT

Eastern Pennsylvania: Partly cloudy and cooler tonight. Tuesday fair.

Three Arrested By Highway Patrol Here

Recent arrests by Corporal Nathaniel Martin and Patrolman Wilbur Smith, of the motor highway patrol, on charges of violating various sections of the highway laws include Miss Esther Shaw, Elmwood, illegal lens; W. J. Craumer, Abbottstown, displaying red light on front of machine, and Cyril A. Fox, Pittsburgh, reckless driving.

All the arrests were made in Oxford township, the hearings to be held this week before Justice of the Peace W. D. Myers, New Oxford.

ILLEGAL LIGHT DRIVE STARTED

State Highway Patrol to Arrest Violators of Law, Regulating Lens and Reflection of Headlights.

The state highway patrol has again issued a warning to the people who do not have the proper lens for their automobile. Beginning this week the highway patrol will make a drive against the illegal lens. All persons put under arrest will be fined. The new law is now in effect and will be enforced. A few new lenses have been added to the list. Due to the different make of lens by the different manufacturing people is one of the reasons for the changing of the light lens. The state highway patrol has announced the following list that are legal on any highway in Pennsylvania: Alpheco, Bausch and Lomb, Benzer A. Broadlight, Brown Reflector, Brown Universal (reflector) conaphore 5 (clear), Conaphore F (Amber); Deglarescope, Dillon I, Dodge Brother DB, Elite Headlamp, E. and J. type 20 (headlamp), Flatline Standard (Reflector), Flintex, Ford H. Guide Ray Type A (headlamp), Holophane 855, Hudson, —Johnson, Lee Knight, Legralite Mill, Liberty, Liberty D, Lincoln Projector, Macbeth D, McKeeite, Miro Tilt Headlamp, Willis St. Claire (headlamp), Monogram, Monogram bearing car manufacturers name, Osgood B423; Parab-O-Lite FW, Patterson, Smith, Spreadlight, Standard, Twin Beam (headlamp) (Monogram). Motorcycle sizes Conaphore F (clear), Conaphore F (amber) McKeeite, Monogram, Patterson, Spreadlight, Standard.

Motorists must note the following rules: With Brown, Brown Universal and Flatline Standard Reflectors, clear plane glass lenses shall be used. In checking up equipment, unless it is a name and type, either letter or figure, as shown above it is not legal.

RETIRED FARMER DIES SATURDAY
Samuel S. Hamm, 77, a retired farmer, died Saturday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, from a complication of diseases, at his home in Straban township, near Gulden's Station.

The deceased was a native of York county, having been born near Jefferson, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hamm. He moved to Adams county forty years ago.

Mr. Hamm is survived by his widow, whose maiden name was Miss Susan Bupp; three daughters, Mrs. Samuel Shull, Hanover; Mrs. John Shetter, Gulden's Station; and Mrs. William Fidler, Gulden's Station; and by three brothers, Adam Hamm, Jefferson; Washington Hamm, York; and Albert Hamm, Hanover. Nine grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon, brief services at the house at 1:30 o'clock, and further services at Salem United Brethren church of which he was a member for forty years, the Rev. F. L. Stine, Gettysburg, officiating. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

State To Have Place At Road Show
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. — The Pennsylvania State Highway Department is making plans to be represented at the annual convention and road show of the American Road Builders' Association in Chicago next January. William H. Connell, engineering executive of the state highway department, is president of the association.

More than 200 exhibitors already have applied for space and it is expected at least double that number will display the latest developments in road machinery, equipment and materials. Among them will be several Pennsylvania concerns.

Printing is done better and cheaper by The Gettysburg Times.

Are you going away? Tell The Times about it.

General Charges Ruin Plot

GEN. W. H. HART MRS. TERESA DEAN GEN. H. L. ROGERS

Major-General Harry L. Rogers, retired, former Quartermaster-General of the Army and protégé of General Pershing, charges Major-General W. H. Hart, his successor, plotted his ruin in order to secure the post of Quartermaster-General for himself. Articles by Mrs. Teresa Howard Dean in a magazine are credited with starting the army scandal.

YOUNG MOTHER DIES ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Pauline Viola Sterner, 25, Leaves 3 Children; Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

Mrs. Pauline Viola Sterner, 25, mother of three small children, died at the Warner Hospital at 12:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, after an illness of four weeks from typhoid fever. She had been a patient at the hospital for three weeks.

Mrs. Sterner, wife of Willis Sterner, Cumberland township, was born in Carroll county, near Taneytown, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fink. The Sterners live on the Emory Sterner farm on the Table Rock road.

Mrs. Sterner is believed to have contracted typhoid fever by drinking impure water during the protracted drought of August and the first half of this month which caused water in wells of the county to fall to unprecedented low levels. Two other women, a mother and her daughter, both of Bonneville, are at the hospital suffering from typhoid, but both are reported to be improving.

Funeral Wednesday
Mrs. Sterner is survived by her husband and three children, Treva L., Hobert E., and Edith Viola Sterner, all at home. Her parents, and one brother, Edgar Fink, near Taneytown, and one sister, Miss Helen Fink, Taneytown, also survive.

Brief funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 12 o'clock, noon, from the deceased woman's home in Cumberland township, with further services at 2 o'clock from Grace Reformed church, Taneytown, the Rev. Guy Brady officiating. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Hand Lacerated By Moving Van

The large furniture van of Charles Mumper, North Washington street, badly lacerated the left hand of Harry Sterner, North Stratton street, when the truck backed into a tree in front of the residence of Mrs. Sarah Stock, Baltimore street.

Sterner, employed by Mr. Mumper, was engaged in letting down the end gate of the van as it was being backed to the curb to unload the furniture of Mrs. Michael Flynn, Mount Carmel, at the home of Mrs. Stock, her mother. The palm of Sterner's hand was badly lacerated, and it is thought some of the smaller bones may be broken. He was taken to the office of a local physician, where his injuries were treated.

Cars Crash Near Town On Sunday

Two automobiles collided on the Lincoln Highway two miles west of here, Sunday morning.

One of the machines, owned and driven by Robert Eckenrode, Harrisburg, formerly of Gettysburg, was proceeding west on the highway.

Both cars were badly damaged in the crash, but no one was injured.

Four Admitted To The Hospital

Melvin McClarren, Altoona; John L. Halter, Silver Run; Benjamin F. Gallagher, Hanover, and Margaret Rinehart, New Oxford, were admitted as patients to the Warner hospital.

Mrs. Amelia Williams, Naticoke, and Miss Ella Peters, Gettysburg, were discharged as patients.

Former Resident Of Gettysburg Dies

Mrs. Elizabeth Diller Pfaff, formerly of Gettysburg, died at her home in Lancaster on Friday evening after an illness of more than a year. Death was due to complications following an operation about a year ago. She was aged 51 years.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Simon J. and Mrs. Ellen Albright Diller. Her mother is at present living in Gettysburg. Mrs. Pfaff moved to Lancaster several years ago where she was following the occupation as demonstrator for a medicine firm.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ellen Diller, Gettysburg; one daughter, Mable, at home, and the following brothers and sisters, Simon J. Diller, Hanover; Mrs. William F. Codori, Gettysburg; Mrs. C. Tyson Tipton, Gettysburg and Mrs. T. J. Quinn, New York City.

The body was taken to Hanover Sunday where interment was made in the family lot.

COURTS DIRECTS THAT SCOFFLAWS BE APPREHENDED

John Beck, 23, On Probation, Gives Judge McPherson Valuable Information.

John Beck, 23, of York county, near East Berlin, was placed on probation by Judge D. P. McPherson this afternoon, after which the court instructed District Attorney John P. Butt to lay information against two men, whom Beck named as having contributed toward the purchase of a quart of liquor from an Adams county bootlegger now serving a jail sentence.

Court house officials asked that the names of the two men against whom the informations are to be laid be withheld from the public until after their arrest. Likewise, they asked that the name of the bootlegger be suppressed until after the arrests have been made.

Beck told Judge McPherson he had been in jail since August 17, and the court criticized the constable and justice of the peace who caused the arrest and commitment of Beck on a

(Continued on Second Page)

Thanks Business People Of Town

Charles L. Hanks, a member of the national staff of the Ku Klux Klan organization, who was in charge of the arrangements for the monster celebration staged by the organization in Gettysburg over Sunday, has asked this newspaper to thank all persons, especially business people of town, who had a hand in contributing to the success of the guests and visitors, for their help and cooperation.

The total number of Klansmen and their families in Gettysburg at some time during the two days celebration is estimated by Mr. Hanks to be between 20,000 and 25,000. He said he based his estimate on the number of paid admissions to the field.

GETTYSBURG MAN WED IN WISCONSIN

Guy Rollin Beard Married to Miss Minnie Ericson at Church Ceremony in West.

Guy Rollin Beard, son of Mrs. Minnie Beard, York street, and Miss Minnie Ericson, of Kenosha, Wisconsin, were married Saturday evening at 5 o'clock at the First Congregational church, Kenosha, by the Rev. George Raymond Cady.

Miss Ericson is known as a musician of prominence, and is familiarly known in Kenosha as "Kenosha's sweet singer." The bride wore a dress of white chiffon over georgette, trimmed with silver lace and braid, and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses and white lilies. Her white tulle veil was trimmed with orange blossoms. Miss Marie Lanthier, of Escanaba, Michigan, was maid of honor, and wore pale green georgette, with head dress of georgette and silver braid. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Sister Is Bridesmaid
Miss Ruth Ericson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Ralph Gabrielson were bridesmaids. Both wore orchid georgette and carried pink tea roses.

George Sprecker, of Madison, Wisconsin, was best man, and Walter Senne and Cetus Kupfer were ushers. Mrs. C. F. Miller, organist of the church, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and Ralph Gabrielson, tenor of the church quartet, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," preceding the ceremony.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Walter V. Anderson, to thirty guests. After the reception and dinner Mr. and Mrs. Beard left for an eastern trip, planning to visit here, and Atlantic City.

They will be at home to their friends after October 5, at Kenosha. Both young people are well known in Kenosha. Miss Ericson was employed at the offices of the American Brass company, after her graduation from Kenosha High School. She was soprano soloist at the Park Avenue M. E. church for three years, and is at present a member of the First Congregational church quartet. Mr. Beard is employed at the offices of Nash Motors company.

Former Resident Of County Passes

Word was received here last week of the death of C. B. Counsilman, former manager of the Aspers Fruit Products Company, of Aspers, last Tuesday in Buckeystown, Maryland. Death came suddenly to Mr. Counsilman, who was apparently in good health. Burial took place in Druid Ridge cemetery, Baltimore.

Mr. Counsilman is well known in Gettysburg and Adams county and his death can be as a shock to his many friends here.

Raises 42 Pound Watermelon Here

Georgia is not the only state which can raise watermelons. Adams county puts in its bid for national honors in a watermelon raising contest.

Mrs. David Cluck, Gettysburg R. 1, raised a watermelon, measuring 27 inches long and 32 inches in circumference. The melon weighed 42 pounds.

Wanted: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

NURSE RETURNS FROM TRAINING

Miss Mary Grove, Chambersburg street, whose resignation as civic nurse of Gettysburg became effective recently, returned Sunday evening from Punxsutawney, where she spent two weeks in training for her duties as state nurse in Adams county.

Adams county now has two state nurses, Miss Kate Briel having served the county for a number of years. Increased activities of state nurses throughout Pennsylvania have made it necessary to add another to the staff in Adams county, it is stated.

SUNDAY GUESTS IN TRAFFIC JAM

Steady Stream of Automobiles on Harrisburg Road Sunday Evening For Two Hours.

Automobiles from Gettysburg crept through Lemoyne at a rate of about five miles an hour last evening as two congesting streams of traffic poured in from the Carlisle and Gettysburg 'pikes.

For about two hours the Harrisburg Patriot says, Market and State streets in Lemoyne presented the appearance of a parade thoroughfare while the traffic worked its way slowly into and through the narrow "bottle neck" which carries all travel from the west and south to the west end of the Susquehanna bridges.

The traffic westward and southward was not nearly so heavy as the travel eastward, but the density of the toward-Harrisburg traffic produced a problem for the motorists proceeding in the opposite direction. Klansmen, homeward bound from Gettysburg, added considerably to the normal congestion at Lemoyne.

The point of greatest congestion is at the place where the Gettysburg and Carlisle 'pikes meet in Lemoyne. At that point, too, is where south-bound traffic must turn from Market street (the Carlisle 'pike) off to the Gettysburg 'pike (State street in Lemoyne).

Blocked At Turn
But the traffic going down the Carlisle 'pike was so heavy and so continuous that it was impossible for those Gettysburg-bound to cross over to the Gettysburg 'pike.

Shortly after the rush began, however, Harry N. Stone, the Lemoyne traffic policeman who had been working heroically at the Rossmore street bridge to keep the machines moving smoothly, was given aid.

Charles Honnefaus, having seen that things were moving smoothly, even if a bit slowly in Camp Hill, hurried down to Lemoyne to see where the trouble was.

He located the trouble at the junction of the two 'pikes and set to work to bring about order.

BABY BEEF CLUB ON COUNTY TOUR

Second of Three Trips Made Saturday With Specialists From State College.

More than 25 persons attended the second of the three all-day tours of Adams County Baby Beef Club, Saturday, when boys and girls, who are fattening steers in the northern part of the county were visited. All of the baby beef club members in the northern group were in attendance.

P. T. Brown, beef specialist; A. S. Barnhart, assistant state club leader, and Edward Rohrbach, agricultural news editor, all of State College, participated in the tour, which was "a success in every sense of the word," according to R. E. Underwood, county farm agent.

Luncheon was served at the home of Roy Raffensperger, near Arendtsville, where games and other amusements furnished entertainment.

Railway Agents Are Coming Here

Fifty members of the Railroad Agents Association of New England will visit Gettysburg on Wednesday. They will arrive here during the forenoon, coming by automobiles. They will be guests at lunch of the Eagle Hotel.

On October 3, fifty members of the Funeral Directors' Association of New Jersey and New York, will visit Gettysburg. They expect to arrive here on the evening of October 3, spending the night at the Eagle Hotel, and leaving the following morning.

Wanted: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

Wanted: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

Wanted: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

KLAN EXPECTS TO MEET HERE AGAIN IN 1926

Annual Convention In Gettysburg Is Plan; More Than 10,000 Here For Affair.

Gettysburg may be the site of an annual gathering of members of the Ku Klux Klan, according to information received from authentic but unofficial sources Sunday afternoon, shortly after Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, Imperial Wizard delivered his address.

It was intimated by Klansmen close to state officers of the organization that plans were under way to hold an annual convention here and that the same site would be used next year, if the plans materialize. Grand Dragon Sam D. Rich refused to confirm or deny the report.

The official closing of the two-day celebration took place at 10 o'clock Sunday evening, with Sam D. Rich, Pittsburgh, Grand Dragon of the Realm of Pennsylvania in charge. The closing was preceded by church services and the singing of the National Anthem.

Dr. Evans Speaks
Dr. Evans' address was heard by several thousand members of the hooded order and spectators. The imperial wizard appealed for a full-fledged American nation, urging Klansmen to remain true to the principles of the order. He emphasized the continuance of the reading of the Bible in all public schools and the power and influence in a strong and solid organization.

Dr. Evans declared that the masks of the Klansmen would not be raised until the country was purged of vice and immorality. He urged a strict adherence to the principles of the Klan on the sanctity of the home and the chastity of womanhood. The speaker reiterated a stand taken some time ago that the Klan stood for religious freedom, separation of state and church and declared that all they asked was the right to organize, as granted in the constitution.

He declared that the Klan was not opposed to any religious sect, but believed that everyone had a right to worship as they pleased.

10,000 People Here
Klan officials estimated that the peak of the throng in Gettysburg for the two-day celebration would total more than 10,000.

The ritualistic services of the Lodge of Sorrow, executed by the New Kensington Klan No. 10, was the principal part of the afternoon's program. The services were presented to commemorate the memories of the departed members of the Klan. Dr. Tabor, H. G. Pethick and A. E. Fidler spoke.

A quartet from the Montgomery Klan sang several church hymns. Prayer was said by Dr. W. F. Chase, of Pittsburgh.

A song "New America" a new version of "America" was sung by H. L. Paxton, of Chester, while Mrs. Ethel Heidler, of Pittsburgh, sang "Abide With Me."

Retreat was sounded at 6:55 o'clock. Community singing at 7:30 o'clock attracted a large audience and the several selections by the Altoona Junior Klan of 35 pieces were well received. Religious services followed led by Dr. Hartranft.

Rain Threatens
All during Sunday, streams of automobiles poured into Gettysburg to attend the various exercises planned for the day. They came from many sections of the state, Maryland and Delaware.

A light shower early Sunday morning threatened to dampen the ardor of the Klansmen and Klanswomen, but a warm September sun broke through the clouds and clear weather predominated throughout the day.

Most of the visiting members of the invisible empire left Sunday evening, while state officers remained overnight and left early this morning.

Dr. Evans, who has been under the care of a physician for several weeks, motored here from Washington and arrived shortly before three o'clock. He drove directly to the Klan grounds where he mounted the platform and delivered his address. At the conclusion of his talk, the Imperial Wizard entered his machine and returned to his home in the Capital city.

Acting Postmaster Is Named For York

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 21.—Former Congressman Edward S. Brooks was appointed today as acting postmaster at York, succeeding McClean Stock, who tendered his resignation.

Let The Gettysburg Times do your printing.

PERSONAL MENTION SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Phone, Bell 166

United, 72 or 91

Adrian Crampton, division of records and accounting, Boston health department who spent the past two weeks in Gettysburg has returned to Boston.

Mrs. Lulu D. Collier, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Catharine Dorsey, Springs avenue.

Ross Sheely, coach of the Trevorton High School football squad which was defeated here on Saturday, returned to Trevorton Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Byers, of Waynesboro, were Gettysburg visitors Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sutton and son, of Reading, spent Sunday with friends in Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonnell and Mr. and Mrs. Luther McDonnell, Gettysburg, and George McDonnell, Greenmount, returned Sunday after spending several days in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Coughanour, Pittsburgh, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Kane, Ardenville.

The Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Moser have returned to their home on Carlisle street, after a visit of three weeks with friends at Schuylkill Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Anderson and three children, of New Kensington, are spending a week at the home of Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kendlehart, West Middle street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Belknap returned to Philadelphia on Sunday where Mr. Belknap will resume his studies at the Jefferson Medical School.

Those who spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamer, Hanover, were Mrs. M. R. Gallatin and sons, Richard and Jack, and Hugh Wozowski, of York.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Carnes, of York, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Neff, Hanover street.

Captain and Mrs. Eubert H. Malone and son, Pat, East Lincoln avenue, and Mrs. Malone's mother, Mrs. R. D. Field, of Knoxville, Tennessee, returned Sunday from a two months' stay at Camp Perry, Ohio, where Captain Malone attended the National rifle matches.

Honorable and Mrs. Joseph Himes, daughter, Miss Marilyn, and son, Canfield, left Sunday for their home in Washington, D. C., after a week's stay with the former's mother, Mrs. Martha Himes, in New Oxford.

Miss Crist, of Columbia; Robert Snook, of Coatesville, and Herman Smith, of Lewistown, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Long, Emmitsburg road.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Boyd, Misses Nancy and Jane Boyd, of Alliance, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, West Lincoln avenue.

Mrs. Charles Nes and daughter, Miss Dorothy, and Miss Nona Brown, of Lancaster, are guests at the home of Mrs. Sara Cox and Miss Cox, West Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Robert Walker, of Baltimore, Maryland, spent the past three days at the Cox home.

Antonio E. delos Monteros, of the class of 1925, Gettysburg College, left this morning for Harvard University where he will take a post graduate course in economics.

Mrs. Wharton McKnight has left for her home in Pittsburgh after spending six weeks with Mrs. Charles Yeager, in New Oxford.

Miss Mildred Eden, of Hanover, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eden, North Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon, sons, Billy and Bobby, of Waynesboro, spent Saturday with friends here.

Mrs. Harry Hand returned to her home in Oak Lane Saturday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John W. McIlhenny, West Lincoln avenue.

Miss Virginia Penrose, of Carlisle; Mrs. Walter Sharp, of Chambersburg; Mrs. Cunningham, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. William Wierman, of York, were among those who attended the Rinehart sale Saturday. Mrs. Wierman conducted a millinery store in Gettysburg for a number of years.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, College Campus, has returned from Pittsburgh, where he attended the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of St. Luke's Lutheran church. Dr. Hanson was a former pastor at this church, it having been his first pastorate, after graduating from seminary. He served there for seven years, during which time a new church was erected.

SEPTIC TANK MEETING

A septic tank meeting and demonstration will be held at the farm of Harry Foth, Harrisburg road, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the direction of R. E. Underwood, county farm agent. J. R. Haswell, farm engineering specialist, state college, will conduct the demonstration.

In the News of the Day

RICHARD MULCAHY

GRATIA HOUGHTON

NATHALIA CRANE

HORACE J. DONNELLY

Gen. Richard Mulcahy, of the Irish Free State, was mobbed in New York on his arrival from Ireland. Gratia Houghton, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, is to be the bride of Alan Rinehart, son of the novelist. Nathalia Crane, twelve-year-old poet, of Brooklyn, N. Y., proudly sails for London, where she will become a member of the Society of Authors, Playrights and Composers of England, a signal honor. Horace J. Donnelly, who has served through fourteen grades of the Post Office Department, is now its Solicitor-General.

CONFERENCE TOLD OF BY DELEGATE

Another Letter, Just Received From the Late Dr. Jacob A. Clutz, Provides Interesting Reading.

Continuing his discription of the Universal Conference on Life and Work which he attended before his accident and death, the late Rev. Dr. Jacob A. Clutz, in a posthumous letter, writes entertainingly of the sessions of the conference. Questions of international importance, including war and prohibition, were up before the delegates for discussion, and Doctor Clutz tells of speeches on these questions by prominent personages of different countries. The letter, in full, follows:

"All the chief sessions of the conference were held in the main hall of the Academy of Music, a room admirably adapted to the purpose. Fortunately the American section were given a very choice place in the hall, right in front of the platform and about half way back. English, German and French were adopted as the official languages. The principal addresses were given in which ever of these the speaker preferred, and printed translations in the other two were circulated among the delegates, so that all could easily follow and understand. Short, impromptu addresses, of which there were not many, were translated in substance from the platform. All announcements were repeated in the three languages. This some times became rather tedious, but seemed necessary. A detailed program for all the sessions had been made out in advance and printed in English, French and German, and it was quite rigidly adhered to. Speakers had to stop at the end of their allotted time. When the limit was reached a bell rang. At the end of another minute two bells rang. Then, if the speaker showed a disposition to continue, the chairman arose and called him down. If this also proved unavailing, the audience took the matter in its own hands and howled him down. This was done a number of times for both men and women who were too persistent. "On most questions there was quite general harmony of sentiment, but occasionally differences were marked and incisive. This latter was especially the case on the subjects of prohibition, war and birth control. Some compromises became necessary on all three of these subjects, in making up the final utterances of the conference. "There was entire unanimity in favor of drink control, but few outside of the Americans were ready for positive prohibition at once. The most pronounced opponent of this was a Lord Sanderson, of the Scotch Supreme Court. He hurled at the conference all the old familiar arguments of the 'wets' in America. Later he was completely and savagely answered by other speakers from Scotland and England. It was rather surprising to find how many speakers from England and the continent insisted that prohibition rigidly enforced was the only effective remedy for the drink curse. "In reference to war there was the sharp difference between the extreme pacifists who insist that a Christian cannot fight or assist in any war, and those who would make an exception of a defensive war. It seems likely that the millennium will come before these reach an agreement. But all were ready to condemn war as a system, and to urge the necessity for finding some better, peaceful method for settling international disputes.

"Was the conference worth while? What has it accomplished? These questions are asked naturally. As might be expected the answers differ. The general impression among the delegates themselves seemed to be that it was worth while and will do good. It was a great thing to bring together so many representative men from so many different lands and churches. It was well for them to meet, to become personally acquainted, and to exchange views on so many burning questions of the day in which the church has a deep and vital interest. They will think of each other hereafter more kindly and understandingly, and will be more ready to confer and cooperate in various ways.

"But the opinion seemed equally general that more and better results could be reached by national rather than international conferences, and that such a general or universal conference as this should probably not be attempted for another ten years or more. The cost has been enormous and no ordinary results can justify such an expenditure.

"All praise is due to the Swedish brethren for the way in which they have handled the conference and entertained the delegates and, in many cases, their families. They have been most kind and generous. It does not seem to be well understood in America that when we speak of the Swedish churches, it really means only one church, or denomination, the Lutheran. In Sweden, the Lutheran church is the state church and it seems to be very much alive and very aggressive. The attendance at the services is large, the worshippers are devout, the singing is hearty, the responses are full and strong, not at all meeting the common notion of a dead or dying state church.

"The church buildings in Stockholm are simply magnificent. They are generally very imposing in architecture, and most beautifully finished inside. Many of them are very old, but they have been rebuilt and remodeled, and 'restored' until they are generally quite modern in appearance, though always churchly in their appointments. There seems to be no effort to minister or cater to the comfort or luxurious case of the worshippers. The pews are all very plain and simple. I have not seen a cushioned pew in any church I have been in. All the richness and beauty seems to have but one end, to arouse the spirit of devotion, and the spirit of worship."

Two additional installments of letters written by Doctor Clutz before his death will be published in early editions of The Times.

JAIL RAIDED IN SEARCH OF RUM

Seranton, Sept. 21.—The Susquehanna county jail at Mount Rose was raided Saturday night by two state police and a constable in search of liquor and beer. The police searched the cells of W. W. Walsh and M. J. Dempsey, Seranton brewers, who are serving 6 months for violations of the Volstead law, but they found nothing in them.

In another cell, the police say they found 5 bottles, one of which contained a tablespoonful of fluid, believed to be liquor.

PROBE SHENANDOAH FATE

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 21.—Through survivors, civilian eye-witnesses and experts, a naval court of inquiry called to meet here today will seek to get at the facts surrounding the wreck of the airship Shenandoah.

AIRCRAFT PROBE GETS UNDER WAY

War Department Officials on Stand When President's Special Inquiry Begins.

(By Associated Press.) Washington, Sept. 21.—The President's special aircraft inquiry began today with war department officials on the witness stand asking for more and better airplanes, but objecting stubbornly to Colonel William Mitchell's pet project of a separate, unified air service.

Acting Secretary Davis, Major General John Hinds, chief of staff of the army, and one or two corps commanders of the World War, who remained on active duty, in turn, described the air service as an important arm of national strength, but one which must be operated in time of war as an integral part of the whole war machine and not as a separate unit of offense or defense.

The American people were assured by Acting Secretary of War Davis that there is "no reason to be panicky about the condition of the army air service."

Testifying as the first witness before the President's air board, Mr. Davis broadly outlined the policy of the air arm of the army and pointed to the successful world flight by army planes as one achievement which "had proved its right to public confidence."

"The amount of equipment is inadequate," he said, "but this is controlled by funds available while its personnel, although somewhat limited, is unexcelled by any air service in the world."

TWO DIVORCES ASKED OF COURT

East Berlin Cemetery Association Chartered; Roy P. Funkhouser's Bond Approved.

Charters of the East Berlin cemetery association, the McSherrystown Knights of Columbus home association and the Phi Gamma Delta house association, Gettysburg, were approved by Judge D. P. McPherson in court here today.

Libels in divorce were filed by Pearl Harbaugh vs. H. Lawrence Harbaugh, and S. Malcolm Weaver vs. Freda M. Weaver, returning November 9.

October 19, at 10:30 o'clock, was set as the time for a hearing on the petition for the appointment of a guardian for Hettie C. Braumreuter. A petition for leave to pay purchase money by the New Oxford Item Company into court was approved.

The bond of Roy P. Funkhouser as permanent receiver for the Sure Foot Heel and Rubber Company was approved. The inventory and appraisal of the concern also was filed with the court.

MOTOR SHARES HOLD THE LEAD

(By Associated Press.) New York, Sept. 21.—Motor shares continued to hold the leadership with the opening of the stock market today. Later active selling of the motors and equipments offset buying operations in certain stock with the list in general tumbling when call money renewed at 4 1/4 per cent.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished and Corrected Daily by Robert Robinson, First National Bank Building		Today's 1:30
		High	Low
Amer. Bond	41 1/2	39 1/2	40
Amer. Can	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2
Amer. Loco	118	118	118
Amer. Smelters	113 1/2	112 1/2	112 1/2
Amer. Sugar	11	11	11
Amer. Woolen	42 1/2	41 1/2	41 1/2
Anconada Copper	45 1/2	45 1/2	45 1/2
Atch. T. & S. Pac.	123 1/2	123 1/2	123 1/2
At. Gulf W.	73 1/2	73 1/2	73 1/2
Baldwin Loco	125	123 1/2	123 1/2
Bates & Ohio	83 1/2	83 1/2	83 1/2
Barnhill "A"	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
Beth. Steel	41 1/2	41 1/2	41 1/2
Calif. Pete	26 1/2	26 1/2	26 1/2
Chandler Motors	38 1/2	37 1/2	37 1/2
Ch. & Ohio	106 1/2	106 1/2	106 1/2
Ch. Gt. West	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2
Ch. M. St. Paul	8 1/2	8 1/2	8 1/2
Ch. M. St. Paul pfd.	16 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
Coca Cola	143 1/2	143	143
Consolidated	22 1/2	22 1/2	22 1/2
Crescent Steel	74 1/2	74 1/2	74 1/2
Davison Chem.	41 1/2	41 1/2	41 1/2
Deere Bros. A.	28 1/2	28 1/2	28 1/2
Dodge Bros. pfd.	87 1/2	87	87
Reie Common	32 1/2	32 1/2	32 1/2
Erie 1st pfd.	41 1/2	41 1/2	41 1/2
Famous Players	110 1/2	109 1/2	109 1/2
Gen. Asphalt	54 1/2	54 1/2	54 1/2
Gen. Motors	167 1/2	164	164 1/2
Gt. Northern pfd.	74 1/2	73 1/2	73 1/2
Gulf St. Steel	82 1/2	82	82
Hudson Motors	85	84 1/2	84 1/2
Hupp Motors	22 1/2	22 1/2	22 1/2
Ind. Comb. Engine	46 1/2	46	46 1/2
Ind. Oil and Gas	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2
Int. Mer. Marine pfd.	34 1/2	33 1/2	33 1/2
Dilch Valley	81	80 1/2	80 1/2
Shenandoah Oil	13 1/2	13 1/2	13 1/2
Mt. Continent. Pfd.	29 1/2	29 1/2	29 1/2
Mo-Pacifc	57 1/2	57 1/2	57 1/2
Mo-Pacifc pfd.	85 1/2	85 1/2	85 1/2
Mon Motors	35 1/2	35 1/2	35 1/2
NY Central	123 1/2	123 1/2	123 1/2
New Haven	38	37 1/2	37 1/2
Northern Pac.	71 1/2	71 1/2	71 1/2
Packard	44 1/2	43 1/2	43 1/2
Pan Pete "B"	63 1/2	63 1/2	63 1/2
Penna. R.	49 1/2	49 1/2	49 1/2
Ray Cons. Copper	13 1/2	13 1/2	13 1/2
St. L. & Frisco	98 1/2	97 1/2	97 1/2
Stearns Equip. & R.	18 1/2	18 1/2	18 1/2
Southern Ry	106 1/2	105 1/2	105 1/2
Stewart Warner	77	75	77
Tenn Copper	11	11	11
US Cast Iron Pipe	177 1/2	172 1/2	174
U. S. Rubber	69 1/2	69 1/2	69 1/2
U. S. Steel	124 1/2	124 1/2	124 1/2
Universal Pipe & R.	37	36 1/2	36 1/2
Walsh "A"	71 1/2	71 1/2	71 1/2
Walsh "B"	44 1/2	43 1/2	43 1/2
Western Maryland	16 1/2	16 1/2	16 1/2
Wills-Greeland	88	87	87 1/2

Women's Full-Fashioned Genuine Silk Hose

at $1.85

Fully guaranteed—that's an unusual thing for a silk hose—the guarantee is simple—if you think that they have not worn well, we are instructed by the manufacturer to give you a new pair—that's all there is to it—all the popular shades—Try a pair.

BOTH ECKERT SHOES AND STOCKING STORE CALL US

SPECIAL PRICE

ON

Harvard Hammers

Manufactured by Plumb Company
Reg. Value $1.00

Special 50c

Limited Supply.

Adams County Hardware Co.

Baltimore St.

Gettysburg, Pa.

"Where You Get What You Like And Like What You Get"

We Want 18,000 People To Know

That Dubbs & Pitzer made a one price suit four years ago. Every year this suit is better in quality, every year we make more, that is why this quality is possible. 300 suits and overcoats to look at—Imported Scotch and Domestic woolsens of quality.

Price Starts at $35 and Stops at $35

Dubbs & Pitzer

Center Square.

New Battery Fluid—"LIGHTNING"

LIGHTNING won't freeze (i. e., in any climate common to our country).

LIGHTNING won't overheat.

LIGHTNING lessens the resistance.

LIGHTNING has ingredients dissolved in it which dissolve the sulphation. This causes a gas to pass from plate to plate thus commencing to charge the battery instantly the liquid covers the plates.

LIGHTNING keeps the plates clean of sulphation and therefore you always have a full plate for the electrolyte to work on.

LIGHTNING prevents the hard corrosion on battery terminals.

LIGHTNING prevents early disintegration.

LIGHTNING has a lower specific gravity when in use.

LIGHTNING alleviates hardening of the negatives, muddy and soft positives, because the chemicals in LIGHTNING are "good medicine" for old batteries.

LIGHTNING will help any battery and hurt none.

LIGHTNING will work in any lead plate battery.

Anyone can service a battery with LIGHTNING in 15 minutes. LIGHTNING will work in any lead plate battery.

With LIGHTNING you should never have to remove your battery for re-charge on the line.

With LIGHTNING in a battery that battery should last as long as the car.

A car owner should not wait until this battery is run down before he fills with LIGHTNING.

Dealers are using LIGHTNING to service new batteries. Bring your battery in, have it serviced, and forget your trouble.

GOOD PROPOSITION OFFERED TO DEALERS

Battlefield Hotel Service Station,

DISTRIBUTOR FOR ADAMS COUNTY

44 Steinwehr Avenue,

GETTYSBURG, PA.

Use the Classified Columns of The Times

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

The "Nervous Wreck" is an eccentric young easterner, is driving Sally Moran from her father's ranch to the station when they run out of gasoline. At the point of a gun the Wreck takes five gallons from a passing car.

Later Charlie McSwen, foreman of a ranch along the route, hides the Wreck's car, takes a wheel off and forces Sally to act as ranch cook. Then they discover that Mr. Underwood, the owner of the ranch, was in the car which they held up. Sheriff Bob Wells is unwittingly searching the countryside for the "bandit" who held up Underwood. Chester, Underwood's son, finds the hidden car on the ranch and the Wreck, planning an escape, forces Chester to tell where the missing wheel is. "It's in the back of the car," Chester says.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

There was a smothered exclamation from the Wreck, who went to the flivver to investigate. The rear compartment, where baggage was usually stored, was never locked, and he lifted up the lid and thrust a hand inside. He could feel something under an old piece of tarpaulin that he had used at odd times for a tent. It was the wheel.

As he hauled it into view it angered him to think of the hours he had spent in searching.

"Got it," called Sally.

"Yes. Keep him there until I light the lantern."

The lantern lighted, he placed it in a far corner of the tool-shed, where it would throw an illumination light on the work he had to do.

"Bring him inside," ordered the Wreck.

Chester, with Sally following, walked into the shed and the Wreck closed the door behind them. He motioned Chester to a place against the wall.

"Keep the gun on him," he told Sally. "I'll be through in five minutes."

It took less than two minutes to slide a jack under the front axle, lift it and kick the soap-box aside. He slipped the wheel into place, adjusted the lock nut, carefully inserted the cotter pin and spread the ends. When the hub cap was screwed on and the jack removed, the flivver stood on four wheels again.

"You wait till they get you for this," said Chester, grimly.

The Wreck laughed, threw back the door and began rolling the flivver into the open. He did not dare to start the motor. He tied Chester's feet together.

"We're going to look you in here," he said. "You're lucky it's no worse. We're not going away just yet. One of us will be outside. If you do any yelling, I'll come back and gag you. Maybe I'll shoot you. I don't know which. Come on, Sally."

She joined him outside and watched him close the door of the shed and slip the padlock into place. He had already extinguished the lantern.

"If he hollers," said the Wreck, loud enough to be heard within the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still a light in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the claspboard. Then he mounted cautiously, feeling his way up the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

Copyright, 1924, by G. Howard Watt whether anybody within heard the noise, but slid down the ladder and hurried away. Twenty yards distant from the house he began groping in the grass and presently found what he sought. As he began walking again he was coiling wire in his hands. The telephone line, until it reached the spruce several hundred yards distant, was carried on a row of poles. He followed it as far as the first pole, cut the wire again, then hurried in the direction of the tool-shed, with the coil over his arm. Sally, nervous at the delay and not understanding the cause of it, was standing guard at the door. Without a word of explanation, he tossed the coiled wire into the bottom of the car.

"Now help push," he said, in a low voice. "I don't want to wake the dead unless I have to."

Together, they got the flivver into reluctant motion. Without her, the Wreck would not have essayed the task, for it would have been far too slow; but Sally was strong, and between them they got the machine moving at a fair walking pace. Fifty yards distant from the shed they cut into the wagon tracks that marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house.

He was leaning into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apallingly. Then the lights switched on and the car plunged forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat, trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her.

"I am," panted Sally.

They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight up-grade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and yanked again. There was a furious belch from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

just as anxious as he to put distance between the flivver and the ranch. After a mile of going he brought the car to a sudden stop and leaped out, leaving the engine running. She saw him rush off among the low trees and thought for half a minute that he must have lost his mind. Then she caught sight of his figure outlined against the moonlit sky. It was perched at the top of a slender pole that rose above the tree-tops. Before she could conjecture what he was doing, he slid from sight again. Bursting back into the trail, he swung aboard again and they were off.

"Just wanted to cut the wire some more," he said, between gasps. "Makes it a little harder for 'em."

"You'd better not waste much time cutting wire," she warned him, with another look backward.

"Why not, Mrs. Lot?"

"They've probably got the big car out now."

He reached into the pocket of his coat and drew forth something that fell clinking into her lap. She picked up two metallic objects and tried to examine them in the dim light.

"What are they?" she asked.

"One of 'em's an intake valve, the other's an exhaust. Timothy's been grinding them."

"And they can't run the car?"

"Not particularly," said the Wreck. "And how are you going to get them back to Timothy?"

He took them from her hands and tossed them into the bushes at the side of the trail.

"Let 'em send to New York for new valves," he answered, in a tone of savage satisfaction. "They expect to stay a month, don't they?"

"You're only piling up trouble for yourself, Henry Williams."

"Nope. Only playing safe."

And to emphasize the safety of his play, he stopped the flivver again and ascended another pole from which he cut the wires with two vicious snaps of his pliers.

"Don't forget they can make time over this trail with a horse," said Sally. "If I were you I'd keep moving."

"I hid the saddles," said the Wreck, grinning.

"You what?"

"Took all the saddles and bridles and carted them out back of the corral. Dumped them into a gulley. They won't find them till morning, anyhow."

As the broad scope of his precautions to forestall pursuit dawned upon her, Sally experienced a feeling of awe and admiration. She already knew that he had a way of doing things on impulse; but it was a discovery to learn that the Wreck could be coldly calculating.

"In that case," she said, "you might slow down a little until we reach the main road. There's no use breaking our necks until we get off the Underwood property."

He adopted the suggestion and drove more slowly, although he did it with reluctance. He had a sort of affection for the dusty flivver, and the touch of the steering wheel inspired him. He was in a mood to make the machine fly, if it would.

A third time he dismounted, as they reached the end of the private road, and threw open the gate. He even took the trouble to close it, after they passed through. Then, once more taking the wheel, he looked at Sally. The main road lay just in front of them, running at right angles.

"Which way?" he demanded. "I suppose you're headed for the train, aren't you?"

CHAPTER XVIII
The Wreck Supplies a Cook

SALLY was not certain whether she was headed for the train or the Bar-M. She had not attempted to plan anything beyond the getaway, which loomed so large in her vision that it blocked off any glimpse at the future. But now she was confronted with the need to make a decision. She had no desire to go to Chicago. She was not in a mood to contemplate the purchase of a trousseau. She had certain annoying opinions on the subject of good cooks, and they persisted in thrusting themselves into the problem.

(To Be Continued)

HOW THEY STAND

American League

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Washington, 6; Chicago, 5 (10 innings).
St. Louis, 5; New York, 4.
Other clubs not scheduled.

TODAY'S GAMES
Detroit at Philadelphia.
Cleveland at Boston.
Other clubs not scheduled.

Standing of the Clubs

	W.	L.	P. C.
Washington	92	59	.614
Athletics	84	58	.592
St. Louis	77	66	.538
Detroit	73	68	.518
Chicago	63	72	.465
Cleveland	67	74	.482
New York	63	81	.437
Boston	43	99	.303

National League

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Phillies, 3; Cincinnati, 0.
New York, 6; Chicago, 2.
St. Louis, 8; Brooklyn, 4.
Other clubs not scheduled.

TODAY'S GAMES
Phillies at Pittsburgh.
New York at St. Louis.
Brooklyn at Chicago.
Boston at Cincinnati.

Standing of the Clubs

	W.	L.	P. C.
Pittsburgh	90	54	.625
New York	82	61	.573
Cincinnati	77	67	.535
St. Louis	71	74	.490
Brooklyn	66	75	.468
Boston	65	81	.445
Phillies	62	81	.434
Chicago	63	83	.432

Joe Sadler then went in for Trostle and the whistle blew ending the game. Final score 54-0.

The lineup:

Gettysburg Trevorton
Kemper left end Votter
Lightner left tackle Strawser
Starry left guard Tussler
Stauffer center Heim
Gibbs right guard Neume

The Gettysburg Times

Member of The Associated Press
Published Every Weekday Evening by Times and News Publishing Company, Gettysburg, Penna. SAMUEL G. SPANGLER, President.
Non-partisan in Politics
Entered at the Post Office at Gettysburg as second class mail.
HERBERT L. GRIMM,
Editor and General Manager
SUBSCRIPTIONS RATES:
One month, 40 cents.
One year, by carrier, $4.50.
One year, by mail in Adams county, $4.00.
One year, by mail outside county, $4.50.
Single copies, three cents.

Office on Carlisle street
Telephone—BCH, 165. Unad. 72.
National Advertising Representatives, George B. David Co., Inc., 110 E. 42nd St., New York, and 1411 Hartford Building, Chicago.

KU KLUX KLAN VISIT

They came quietly in large numbers than Gettysburg has received over a week-end in recent years; they staged the most colorful demonstration the town has ever witnessed; they asked no favors of anyone; they are appreciative and publicly thank all who cooperated in making their assembly here a success.
Gettysburg was delighted to entertain the hosts of the Ku Klux Klan. Those in charge of the arrangements, particularly Charles L. Hanks, are to be congratulated upon the thorough and complete manner in which the comfort of the large number of visitors was provided for. There was not a sign of disorder, nor a single untoward incident to justify the slightest criticism.

WARNING TO FARMERS

Farmers of Adams county are warned at this time to be especially careful in giving their hard-earned money to promoters of various organizations purporting to be organized to boost their interests. Quite a few people "with the gift of gab" are said to be operating in the county in an effort to separate the rural folk from the proceeds of their harvests. A too thorough examination and investigation cannot be made to check-up on the activities of promotional artists. Bankers as a rule are posted on these organizations, or the Adams County Farm Agent, R. E. Underwood, can give advice on "farm organizations" and the like. Some are all right; others are merely "get-rich-quick" schemes.

MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE

Many local people traveling the highway from Emmitsburg to Frederick have marveled at the recent improvement made on the campus of Mt. Saint Mary's College. The trees in front of the school have been cut down, affording an excellent view of the fine, massive stone buildings of the institution. A number of persons have stopped at the school to congratulate Monsignor Bradley, head of the institution, upon the remarkable improvement he has made by clearing and grading the campus.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

PHILOSOPHY

High sounding phrase is not philosophy.
Nor polished sentence turned in quiet state;
He teaches best whose life to some degree
Shows faith unshaken by the blows of fate.
They who have suffered much, yet smile again,
And bravely bear the hurts they cannot cure
Teach us when words from happy lips are vain
What pain the spirit can and should endure.
They are the world's 'philosophers'; not we
Who write of faith or sing of courage bold;
Theirs is a glory which the eye can see,
A living lesson for the young and old.
From them whose feet have walked the cruel way
To find at last the future's calm retreat,
We catch the hope that we shall come as they
To see our sorrow changed to memory sweet.
Oh, they are wisest who have suffered much,
Not those who glibly speak, or wield the pen,
For there is no philosophy can touch
The brave examples of our fellow men.

NEW OXFORD

New Oxford.—Bands of matrimony were published for the first time Sunday in St. Mary's Catholic church between Miss Marian Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kuhn, and James Robinson, Jr., son of James C. Robinson, all parties of this place. Wedding will take place here in the near future, ceremony by their pastor, Rev. George L. Rice.
Mr. and Mrs. John Fleschman and children, spent Sunday at Waynesboro.
Mr. and Mrs. Basil Dunn, Philadelphia, are visiting Mr. Dunn's father at his home near town.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolf, Palmyra, spent the week-end here with relatives.

History of The Low Dutch Colony of Conowago

Written by

REV. DR. DEMAREST

Early Pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Gettysburg

CHAPTER FOUR

The Church From 1769 To 1793

Without doubt, the Dutch made an early effort to provide themselves with a church and a minister. That they did not at first succeed may be inferred from the fact that there was a scarcity of ministers of their denomination at that time. The Dutch Reformed and the German Reformed Church were until the year 1792 both of them dependent on the Classis of Amsterdam, (Holland). The congregations, made up of emigrants from the Palatinate, had sought guidance and aid from the Dutch, the followers of Calvin having become few in their mother country. These two churches, therefore, though not dependent on each other, were in close relation. A dependence on so remote a court was disadvantageous. Two parties sprang up in consequence in the Dutch church, the "Conferentie" and the "Coetus", the former favoring the continuance of the distant connection, the latter opposing it and desiring autonomy. The main difficulty was in obtaining the necessary credentials for ministers. Up to the year 1770, there had arrived in this country from Holland only about seventy ministers, and from Germany, for service in the Reformed Church, about an equal number. Meanwhile, there had been licensed and ordained at home, with some irregularity but from necessity, not more than fourteen.

Much Work For Pastors

Owing to the extent of country over which the Dutch were scattered—about New York City, up the Hudson, along the Mohawk, over Western Connecticut and Northern New Jersey, along the Delaware and, as we have seen, westward even so far as our own country in Pennsylvania—the few ministers I have mentioned could hardly undertake, except under special circumstances, local pastoral work. The German congregations were more conventionally situated; and occasionally, where the preaching was in English or there was an ability to use both the German and the Dutch language, a German minister might of course serve a Dutch congregation in addition to his own.

This may have been the case with Rev. Charles Lewis Boehme, and, at the latter time, with Rev. John Christopher Gobrecht, both Germans and pastors successively of the German Reformed church at McAlister's, as Hanover was called until about the beginning of this century. Mr. Boehme did not come to America until 1770. Mr. Gobrecht came in 1753, but Mr. Boehme left this vicinity in 1781; Mr. Gobrecht remained until 1806. These men perhaps ministered occasionally to the Dutch community, but the traditions concerning their work in this connection I regard as uncertain.

It must have been under the preaching of one who was some years earlier on the ground than either of these, that the Reformed Dutch Church of Conowago received its organization. As to the circumstances and the exact date of that event it is impossible to speak with positiveness, as unfortunately the records of the Classis of New Brunswick covering the period are lost. But the Baptismal Record of the Church begins its entries with October 23, 1769. There is nothing to show, or even make it probable, that the church had an existence before that date.

Officers Are Ordained

We may be sure it was by some one sent for the purpose by the Classis of New Brunswick that the congregation was called together for the first time—a joyful day it was—and favored with a sermon, after which its lay officers were ordained in the presence of the people. If the Missionary was the same who administered baptism, on October 23, 1769, to thirteen children, and again nearly three years after, on May 31, 1772, to twenty-seven children, it was Rev. John M. Van Harlingen. I suppose him to have been a friend of the Monforts and Cassats, as his birth place and home were near Millstone, Somerset county, New Jersey, the same place from which they had come. His visit may have been at their instance, and I can conceive their happiness on hearing again his familiar voice. But he and his wife also may have had still closer attachments to the colony, as both their names, Van Harlingen and Stryker, occur among the names of parents in the Baptismal Records. His preparation for the ministry he received at one of the Universities of Holland, having gone abroad in his youth. His preaching was exclusively in Dutch. He was a member of the first board of Trustees of Queens College, as Rutgers was then called. It is said of him in Sprague's Annals:

"He is one about whom very little is known. Those who were his contemporaries, and sat under his preaching, are probably all gone. Tradition, such as there is, reports him to have been a very evangelical, pointed, and practical preacher. The fact that a very prominent church village and district of country are called by his name, might be taken for evidence of the estimation in which he was held."

13 Children Baptized

Between these two visits of "Domini Van Harlingen" the sacrament of Baptism was administered on May 27, 1770, to thirteen children and on June 2, of the same year, to two children, by Rev. J. R. Hardenbergh, then the pastor of several churches near New Brunswick, N. J. It is noticeable that he also had been settled over the church at Millstone, N. J. He visited Holland, but was one of the first ministers of his denomination ordained in America. He was the first president of Queen's College and received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Princeton. He held a seat in the convention that formed the constitution of New Jersey, and for several sessions was a member of the general assembly of that state. A leading part was taken by him in all the public movements of his time, and his piety and patriotism was equally noted. His wife, Dinah Van Borg, widow of Rev. John Frelinghuysen, was a worthy companion and left a journal, which, now handsomely bound, is preserved in the archives of the general synod of the Reformed church. Doctor Hardenbergh died in Also, in September 8, 1771, baptism was administered to eight children by Rev. John Leydt, pastor at that time of the church at New Brunswick, N. J. He was a Hollander by birth, and is spoken of for his zeal in the Revolutionary War and in various church controversies. He died in 1783, while yet in middle life.

But in the fall of 1772, the Conowago congregation secured a pastor of their own, Rev. Cornelius Cosine, Doctor E. T. Corwin in his manual of the Reformed church in America says of him only that he was pastor of the Conowago church, Pa., from 1784 to 1788. But in the Baptismal Record I find the sacrament was administered by his hand at stated times beginning October 11, 1772, and continuing until 1788. The fact of his death in that year, or in the next, I discovered from an examination of some papers at York. Nothing can be said as to where he obtained his education or by whom he was ordained. His wife, Maria Brower, was the daughter of one of the colonists. She, upon his death, went to Haverstraw, N. Y., where she married David S. Demarest, of Hackensack, N. J. But we may say confidently of Rev. Mr. Cosine, even in our ignorance, that he was a good man and had considerable force of character; for, after the lapse of almost a century, there are those living who remember having heard his name mentioned always with reverence in the households where they were children.

Ordain New Pastor

He was succeeded by Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff, who entered on his work in November 1789. So it appears in the Minutes of the General Synod: "The licentiate Georgius G. Brinkerhoff presented a call made upon him by the congregation of Conowago, and at the request of that congregation and on account of the distance, this Reverend Body solemnly ordained Mr. Brinkerhoff to his office here in the Reformed Dutch Church." That session of the General Synod was held in New York in October 1789. And with this Minute the Baptismal Record corresponds. No child was baptised from October 1787 to November 1789, at which date we find the first mention of Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff: "Volente Deo Minister of Conowago."

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was born in Closter, Bergen county, N. J., in 1761. He must have been one of the first admitted to the ministry of the Reformed Dutch Church without credentials from beyond the sea. He was prepared for his calling in part at Pompton Plains, N. J., by Rev. Hermanus Meyer, a German, a graduate of Groeningen University, and in part at Hackensack, N. J., by Rev. Solomon Froeligh and Rev. Theodore Romeyn.

Before coming to Conowago, Mr. Brinkerhoff was what we should now call a "Home Missionary", having been sent by the General Synod "to the north", as I suppose, to the early settlers in the northern counties of New York state. On leaving Conowago, he returned to the Bergen county, N. J., and accepted a call to two churches, Kakeat, (now New Hempstead) and Ramapo. To these he ministered from 1793 to 1806. In 1796 he was borrowed, so to speak, from his churches for a year, and sent as a missionary to Genesee county, New York. In 1798 he came once more to Conowago to visit the congregation with which he had formerly stood in so close a relation. In 1808 he became the pastor of a church at Sempronius, near Owaseo Lake, New York. During this, his last pastorate, his health failed, and in 1813 he died at Sempronius.

An Early Convert

In Corwin's Manual, I find it said of Mr. Brinkerhoff that he was "mild and gentle in his temper, firm and resolute in his opinions and purposes". He was converted early in life, and "his spiritual exercises were deep and earnest". "His last words were: 'Why tarry thy chariot wheels so long, O Lord?'"

These two pastors, Cornelius Cosine and George G. Brinkerhoff, were all the Conowago Church ever had. Mr. Brinkerhoff resigning in November 1793, on account of the breaking up of his congregation. And so soon do we approach the end of our history, as far as the residence of the Colony in our State is concerned. Hardly more than a single generation intervened between their arrival and their leaving again for more distant parts—or, as perhaps we should say, the continuance of their journey westward. But of this more hereafter.

Littleton, Mrs. Theodore F. Skildt and son, Melvin, of near Littleton; Mr. and Mrs. George Brumgard and daughters, Miriam, of New Church; Mrs. Levine A. Hahn and Miss Annie G. Hahn, of near Westminster, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Slifer were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curvin Carbaugh, of Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lemmon and family spent Sunday as the guests of the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Slick, near Walnut Grove schoolhouse.

Many Entries At Annual Horse Show

Greensburg, Pa.—The largest list of entries in the history of the Westmoreland Hunt have been received for the annual horse show next Saturday.

H. B. Bender & Son Funeral Directors

EFFICIENT SERVICE—RESPONSIBLE—REASONABLE

All telephone charges reversed.
Show Room Funeral Parlor
Both Phones

Special attention deaths at Institutions in Cities
Calls from any part of county will be given prompt attention.

The program lists nineteen classes which are to be judged by Ellis A. Warring, of New York; Walter Palmer, of Ottawa, Illinois, and Major Louis Beard, of the United States Army.

The annual show of the Westmoreland Hunt is one of the leading events of Western Pennsylvania. Horses owned by the Hunt have won many ribbons at the large shows and many imported jumpers are included in the stables of both the Rolling Rock and Westmoreland Hunt clubs.

Classes to be shown include light, middle and heavy weight hunters; three gaited and five gaited saddle horses; small and large ponies and

PUBLIC SALE

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1925.

The undersigned administratrix of the estate of Lula D. Riggall, deceased, late of Orrtanna, Pa., will sell at public sale the following described valuable real estate.

The Lula D. Riggall property situated on the Main street of Orrtanna, Adams county, Pa., adjoining lands of A. D. Henry and Charles Biessecker containing 147 perches and improved with a two story frame dwelling house, wood shed and chicken house, well of good water.

Sale will begin at 1:30 P. M. when attendance will be given and terms made known by MARY L. REAMER, Administratrix, Cashtown, Pa.

Charles S. Duncan
Attorney for estate.

Mr. Speed

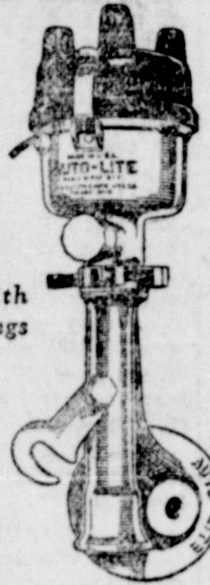

Max Methusalem Carey should have been in the old home for baseball players long ago. Outside of hitting over 300, stealing twice his share of bases, throwing like a bullet, and covering three fields all at the same time, Max is absolutely of no value to the Pirates.

lightweight polo ponies. Hunt teams will take the field and horses suitable for breeding hunters also will be exhibited.

Auto-Lite

new Ignition System for FORDS

$12.00

Complete with wiring and fittings

Pays for Itself
and
Saves YOU Money

Auto-Lite makes your Ford run better and a more efficient car is a more economical car.

Its hot, fat, accurately timed spark wrings the maximum power out of every bit of gas. More miles per gallon. You go further without draining your crankcase. Less raw gas is left to leak through and dilute the oil.

Smoother performance adds years to the life of your Ford by saving it from the racking strain of knocking and pounding that soon wears out the engine.

H. & T. ELECTRIC COMPANY

H. F. Harbach, Prop.
York Street, Gettysburg, Penna.

Betrothal of Italian Princess To Philip of Hesse, Love Match

Raconigi, Italy, Sept. 19.—As the wedding day of Princess Mafalda, second daughter of the King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, and Prince Philip of Hesse approaches, court circles are telling the story of their romance. The wedding will be celebrated at the royal castle here September 23.

It was a bright Saturday afternoon several years ago at a garden party in the grounds of a magnificent Roman villa that a beautiful girl and a handsome young man were introduced. A friendship grew rapidly as they conversed and found interests and tastes in common. Thus the romance of Mafalda and Philip began.

Doesn't Want To Be Queen

Their introduction was followed by a series of meetings. Philip came to Italy as the guest of the Italian court on a number of occasions, always singling out Mafalda for special attention. Finally he returned home to Hesse determined to upset the venerable tradition that all European royal marriages must be dictated by the parents for political purposes.

The heart of Princess Mafalda also was captured, for whom gossip connected her name with those of the heirs of various ruling houses of Europe she answered resolutely "I don't want to be a queen." This for a time mystified her relatives and friends, but when the couple met again at Bordighera, on the Italian Riviera, Mafalda's interest in Philip was so apparent that King Victor Emmanuel thought it time to speak to her.

"Do you think such a marriage would make you happy?" he asked. "I do," Mafalda answered. She explained that she loved Philip and shared with him a desire for the simple life filled with contact with the arts, especially music. Then the King gave his consent.

"Your happiness is mine, too," he said. Contrary to custom no Italian title will be conferred upon the Prince of Hesse, but some such title would be given to male children of the union.

Once you have mastered the art of small talk you do not need an automobile to "run down" your neighbors. —Illinois Motorist

H. Martin Oaster

Optometrist

Eyesight Specialist

Office day Tuesday to Saturday except week 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Kadel Building, Gettysburg, Pa.

Chats

with your GASman

Back to the Bathtub

"WE love the country, and the birds and the trees and the cows and the chickens and all that goes with life 'down on the farm' but isn't it nice to get back to the cool, white-tiled bathroom in your own little home?—just to hear the water running and know you can have a whole tubful just as hot as you want it."

That's the way a certain well known writer starts out on an editorial about the joys of getting home after vacation. And as you look back on your life in camp or at "Shadyrest Cottage" or down in the country this summer, you'll recall that you missed your good bathtub most of all.

A clean bathroom—a white tub—big soft towels, and PLENTY of HOT WATER—that's luxury and that's health. The most convenient way to insure a steady supply of hot water is by means of a gas water heater. New style heaters are being designed right along—more efficient and more economical than ever before. Have you looked at them over recently?

Gettysburg Gas Co.,

Gettysburg, Pa.

"If It's Done With Heat, You Can Do It Better With Gas."

IT ISN'T A HOME WITHOUT A TELEPHONE

HERE is a young man. He has a new suit, a dollar and a nickel.

With the dollar he will buy two tickets for the movies.

The nickel will be spent for a Telephone Call.

He is a nice young chap.

But the girl without a Telephone will stay at home.

AND YOU CAN HAVE ONE FOR LESS THAN 10c A DAY!

The Community
Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS.

Use The Want
Ads, A Powerful
Pulling ForceFISHERMEN WILL HOLD CONVENTION

Members of Izaak Walton League to Assemble in Williamsport, Three Days Next Week.

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 21.—More than 2,000 delegates and members of the Izaak Walton League of America are expected to attend the three-day convention to be held here September 28, 29 and 30. They will come from the forty-five chapters of the League organized in this state during the last few months.

The chief business of the convention will be organization of the Pennsylvania Division of the League. Officers for the state-wide body will be elected, and a constitution and by-laws will be adopted. Committees will be elected to handle matters relating to game, fish, waters, and forests.

Among the resolutions to be considered by the Waltonians is one providing for drastic action to remedy the stream pollution evil in Pennsylvania. The convention will consider a bill already drafted to deal with industrial waste disposal in a manner satisfactory to the sportsmen of the state.

Discussion of the stream pollution situation will occupy a full day. Experts from the state departments, from coal companies and from the tanning and paper mill interests will talk about the abatement of water contamination from their viewpoints. The legal aspects of the problem will be discussed by John H. Fertig, of the Legislative Reference Bureau. William B. McCale, of Philadelphia, will tell the sportsmen about the Supreme Court decision in the Indian Creek case, Fayette county.

Dr. Charles H. Miner, secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, will read a paper on the plans and policies of the Sanitary Water Board. J. J. Desmond, of Corry, will explain that the tanning industry is doing to eliminate discharge of fish-killing waste into the streams. Charles A. Johnson, manager of the technical department of the New York and Pennsylvania Paper Co., at Lock Haven, is scheduled to talk about the same aims of the paper mills.

Seth E. Gordon, executive secretary of the State Board of Game Commissioners, is on the program to tell the sportsmen what the Pennsylvania Game Commissioners are doing to keep this state at the head of the list as a hunters paradise. Motion pictures of Pennsylvania game will be shown during his talk.

Ross L. Leffler, of McKeesport, president of the first Izaak Walton League chapter organized in Pennsylvania, will discuss the advantages of organization to the sportsmen.

Undertaking

The undertaker you employ should have experience, be careful and painstaking. This assurance you have in

R. H. LININGER Service

Funeral Director and Embalmer
BIGLERVILLE, PA.
Auto Service, Both 'Phones

Miss Rogers Gained
15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back.

My dear Friends:
After my attack of Flu I was thin, run-down and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cer o Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.
To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 60 Tablets—60 cents at People's Drug Store and live druggists everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days, get your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine—adv.

Charles A. Lose, of Montoursville, plans to relate his personal observations of stream pollution in north-central Pennsylvania.

Two addresses will be given by Will H. Dilg, national president of the League. To the members, he is the most important speaker on the program.

Senator George Wharton Pepper is on the program for the second evening session. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton University, who is second vice president of the league, Dilg and Governor Pinchot are the speakers scheduled for the banquet at the closing session of the convention.

Local committees arranging the details say the meetings will bring together the largest gathering of sportsmen in the state's history.

JOHN K. TENER IS OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Former Governor John K. Tener Sunday night announced his candidacy for another term as governor. In placing himself before the Republican voters for nomination at the primary next May, Mr. Tener said that he did not do so "at the behest of or to serve any man or set of men or any particular group or faction." His announcement follows:

"Having decided to become a candidate for governor I desire all of the people of my state to know that in reaching this decision and now in announcing my candidacy, I have clearly in mind, from previous experience, the important duties and responsibilities of that high office.

"Always a believer in the principles of the Republican party, in party organization and all that stands for the best interests of good clean government, I will submit my candidacy to the adherents of my party at the primary election to be held in May of the coming year."

SHERIFF'S SALE

In pursuance of a writ of fieri facias issuing out of the court of common pleas of Adams county, and to me directed, will be exposed to public sale on Saturday, the 17th day of October, 1925, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Court House in the borough of Gettysburg, Adams county, Pa., the following real estate, viz: Located in the township Conewago, county of Adams, lying along the State Highway, leading from McSherrytown to Gettysburg, 1/4 mile west of McSherrytown, bounded on the north by State Highway, on the south by George Worley, on the east by Felix Klank, on the west by Hancock, and Littlestown Railway Company, containing ninety-nine (99) acres more or less, improved with two and one half story stone house, large bank barn, poultry house, wagon shed, hog pen, chicken house, and all other necessary out buildings.

Seized and taken into execution as the property of William J. Rodkey and Isaac J. Rodkey, and to be sold by me

JOHN C. SHEALER, Sheriff
Sheriff's Office, Gettysburg, Pa., September 19th, 1925. Ten per cent of all sales by the sheriff payable immediately after sale if same is not complied with property will be resold.

Beef Club High
Honors Awarded

Oil City, Pa.—Glenn Riddle, Wilbur Mays and Jerald Biddle, members of the Venango Beef club of Venango county, have won the right to represent the Pennsylvania club members at the eastern states exposition at Springfield, Mass., September 29-30. The boys won the free trip for general excellence and proficiency shown in their work during the past 20 months. Five other Pennsylvania residents will attend the exposition in the same manner.

DEMAND FOR HOMES

Seranton, Pa.—Demand for homes near Clarke's Summit has resulted in a decision of the owners of a large park to abandon it at the close of this season and cut it into building sites. Buildings on the land are to be torn down and a number of improvements made.

Tortured by rash
on face

Resinol stops itching and makes skin clear and smooth

Piney Creek, N. C., Jan. 4:—"I had a breaking out on my face that looked like chicken pox. I suffered so from it that at night I would not sleep for hours at a time. I tried various remedies, but nothing did me any good until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. It stopped the itching and burning instantly and after a few applications the skin peeled off and left my face clear and smooth, instead of rough and bumpy. I don't know of anything better than the Resinol products." (Signed) W. R. Mitchell.

AMERICAN STORES CO.
AMERICANHave You Ever Used
the Delicious Louella?

If not, try it today and then you'll know why thousands of the most particular Butter users say it is

The Finest Butter in America!

Extra Special!

Mason Pint or Quart Jars 5c each
Top and Jar Ring included.

Reg. 7c Lifebuoy Soap 2 cakes 11c
Full size cakes. Cleanses and purifies.

Regular 15c Taste-Tells 2 bots 25c
India Relish
The equal of the best home-made

Asco Corn Starch 4 pkgs 25c
Why pay more? Buy ASCO Brand and save the difference.

ASCO Noodles Large Fleahy Santa Clara Prunes
2 pkgs 9c 2 lbs 25c

Flake Vegetable Cooking Fat lb 19c
White Absolutely pure. Use it the same as Lard for Frying, Cooking and Baking.

Dodge Brothers

Leads the World
For

The Economical Automobile

SEE OUR DISPLAY

At The
GREAT HANOVER FAIR

September 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th.

GETTYSBURG GARAGE

E. C. Ott, Prop.

Displaying With H. M. Sterner's Booth

By McManus

HELP WANTED

WANTED: Girl for general housework in Gettysburg home of pleasant environment. Address letter G, care of Times Office, stating wages desired.

WANTED: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

APPLE PICKERS: Five good men wanted for the season. Robert Eldon, Aspers, Pa.

WANTED: Assistant cook, experience necessary. College fraternity. Apply to 225 Lincoln avenue.

WANTED: Chambermaid. Hotel Gettysburg.

WANTED

WANTED: Blacksmith shop and house, address letter D, box 167, Taneytown, Maryland.

WANTED: Corn cutter by the acre. Apply Russell Numemaker, East Middle street, extended.

WANTED: Spangler lowdown grain drill, does not need to be in running order. I. L. Deardorf, McKnightstown, Pa.

MISCELLANEOUS

$12.95
Rubber Case
STORAGE BATTERY
Baker's Battery Service,
Opposite Post Office.

For anything in REAL ESTATE
M. P. Hartzell,
43 East Lincoln Avenue,
C. V. 'phone 149W.

FESTIVAL: By Biglerville High School senior class at high school building, Tuesday, September 22, at 7 o'clock.

Original
POCAHONTAS COAL
Washed and screened
G. R. Thompson's Sons,
Gettysburg, Pa.

APPLES: Smoke House, Red Doctor, Grimes Golden, Jonathan, Pippin and other varieties now ready to move at "Woodside Farm." William B. McIlhenny, United 'phone.

FARMERS: See the latest improved New Idea manure spreaders with wide tiers and cleats on wheels instead of spuds as used before, at Weigle's, Biglerville, Pa.

CIDER making and butter boiling every Tuesday and Thursday at the New Oxford flour mill, W. H. Kling, proprietor.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear sister, Mamie Siess Ohler, who departed this life, September 21, 1918. Sweet memories will linger forever. Time cannot change them 'tis true. Years that are past cannot sever. Our loving remembrance of you.
M. Belle Siess.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

Estate of Peter M. Brunner, late of Borough of Gettysburg, Adams county, Pennsylvania, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that letters testamentary under the last will of the above decedent have been granted unto the undersigned by the Register of Wills of Adams county, Pennsylvania; all persons having claims or demands against the estate of the said decedent are requested to make known the same and all persons indebted to said decedent are requested and required to make payment without delay unto the undersigned.

WAYNE M. KEEL,

Executor of the last Will of Peter M. Brunner, deceased.
Whose address is:
Chambersburg street,
Gettysburg, Pa.

Or his attorney:
Charles S. Duncan, Esq.,
Baltimore street,
Gettysburg, Pa.

For All Kinds Of Insurance
Phone or See
MRS. LAURA B. FISSEL
Masonic Building C. V. Phone 163W

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
4% on Savings of Gettysburg, Penna.

GETTYSBURG MARKETS

Market prices at the Gettysburg warehouses, corrected daily, are as follows:

Wheat $1.43
Rye 1.00
Eggs 34
Butter 45

PHILADELPHIA

Butter—Solid packed, higher than extras, 56c; the latter for small lots; extras, 92 score, 40c; 91 score, 48c; 90 score, 40c; 89 score, 44c; 88 score, 44c; 87 score, 43c; 86 score, 42c.

Eggs—Extra firsts, 42c; firsts, in new cases, 36c; firsts, in second-hand cases, 37c; seconds, 32c.

Cheese—New York whole cream, flats, fresh, 25c.

BALTIMORE

Cattle—Receipts yesterday were 750 head; market steady. Steers, choice to prime, 31c; 2nd, 30c; 3rd, 29c; 4th, 28c; 5th, 27c; 6th, 26c; 7th, 25c; 8th, 24c; 9th, 23c; 10th, 22c; 11th, 21c; 12th, 20c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts yesterday were 350 head; market steady. Sheep, 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c; 31c; 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c.

Hogs—Receipts yesterday were 400 head; market higher. Lights, 14c; heavy, 14c; 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c; 21c; 22c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c.

Calves—Receipts yesterday were 275 head; market steady. Calves, 5c; 6c; 7c; 8c; 9c; 10c; 11c; 12c; 13c; 14c; 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c.

LIVE POULTRY—Fowls, fancy, Plymouth Rocks, 5 pounds or over, 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c; 41c; 42c; 43c; 44c; 45c; 46c; 47c; 48c; 49c; 50c.

2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c; 2 1/2 pounds, 28c.

CHICAGO
Cattle—Receipts, 4,000 head; fed steers strong; trade active; spots higher on grass offerings; clearances good; most fed offerings of calves to sell at $11.00; best market fed steers selling 14c; 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c; 21c; 22c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,000 head; active; light and heavyweight butchers strong to 10c higher than yesterday's average; light hogs and slaughter pigs advanced 10c; 11c; packing hogs, 10c; to 20c; higher; bulk better; 150 to 225 pound weights, 13c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c; 31c; 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c.

Butchers largely 12c; 13c; 14c; 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c; 21c; 22c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c; 31c; 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c.

Sheep—Receipts, 11,000 head; few late sales; fat native lambs steady; others mostly 25c; lower; no fat range lambs on sale; feeding quality generally plain; but desirable fat native lambs, 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c; 21c; 22c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c; 31c; 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c.

others, 14c; 15c; 16c; 17c; 18c; 19c; 20c; 21c; 22c; 23c; 24c; 25c; 26c; 27c; 28c; 29c; 30c; 31c; 32c; 33c; 34c; 35c; 36c; 37c; 38c; 39c; 40c.

COOLIDGE NEARLY STRUCK BY AUTO

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Coolidge narrowly escaped being struck by an automobile while walking in the downtown section Sunday night and the driver of the car was arrested on a charge of violating traffic regulations.

The President had just stepped from the curb into the street at a corner when the automobile, cutting the corner, was said to have borne down upon him so suddenly that he was only saved from being struck by a secret service man grabbing his arm and drawing him back to the curb.

Another of the four secret service men with the President jumped onto the running board of the car and caused the arrest of the driver when he came to a traffic policeman a block away.

The driver of the car gave the name of Nathan D. Smith, of Baltimore. He was charged with cutting corners and failing to give right of way to pedestrians. Smith was released on furnishing $3,500 bond for his appearance in traffic court today.

29 DISTILLERIES
IN BERKS IN 1840

Reading, Pa.—Records resurrected by a local historian show that in 1840 Berks county had 29 distilleries with an annual output of 59,814 gallons. Then a gallon of liquor could be purchased for about 50 cents. During that period the county had two breweries with an output of 61,600 gallons annually contrasted with an output by all breweries in the county, when national prohibition became effective, of about 200,000 barrels a year.

Immortality is the glorious discovery of Christianity.

Exide Battery Service
Live Wire Electric Co.

Electrical Contractors
158 York St., Gettysburg, Pa.

"BRINGING UP FATHER"

TO DO ALL THE THING FOR THIS
MY VACATION
I WONDER YOU
WOULDN'T SUGGEST
SOME PLACE
TO GO!

YOU'RE BETTER
AT THAT AND
BESIDES I'M TOO BUSY AT THE OFFICE.

IT'S MORE TROUBLE
THAN IT'S WORTH
FIGURE OUT A VACATION TRIP.

ALWAYS COOL
DELIGHTFUL
BATHING
SPEND THE SUMMER
AT SEASIDE BEACH

HELLO MAGGIE!
I THINK SEASIDE BEACH
WOULD BE A NICE
PLACE FOR US TO SPEND THE SUMMER!

Esmond Blanket Week

ESMOND
BLANKETS

Wonderful Showing Here This Week

of these famous blankets, a rare combination of warmth, comfort, wear, and—what you may never have seen in a blanket—a real decorative value in Esmond colors and designs.

Come and see this display. We want you to know Esmond Blankets “by sight.”

So beautiful, we nearly forget to talk about their uses—regular bed blankets, baby blankets, extra throws for the big bed, and Indian and Sport designs for outdoor use. Esmond—the best blankets you can buy.

A factory representative will be in our blanket department all week.

G. W. WEAVER & SON

Dry Goods Department Store.

Richley's Used Car Department
Is Offering York's Greatest
Bargains in Automobiles

Buick 1923 4 Pass. Coupe, Refinished	$ 875	Wills St. Claire, Refinished	550
Buick 1923 7 Pass. Sedan, Refinished	925	Paige Touring, Refinished	265
Buick 1923 7 Pass. Touring, Refinished	675	Hudson Sport Touring	575
Buick 1924 5 Pass. Brougham, Refinished	1375	1922 Buick Touring	415
Buick 1924 4 Pass. Coupe, Refinished		1925 Overland Touring, like new	465
Studebaker Sedan, Refinished	435	Chevrolet Sedan, Refinished	375
Cadillac Coupe, Refinished	385	Chevrolet Touring, Refinished	155
Templar Touring, Refinished	450	Olds Touring	195
		Maxwell Touring	375
		Ford Two-Door Sedan	385
		Ford Coupe	265
		Jewett Sedan	600
		1924 4-Door Sedan	365

These cars are real bargains considering their condition. See them at

RICHLEY AUTO CO.

York's Oldest and Largest Auto Dealers

236-48 E. MARKET ST., YORK, PA.

UNIQUE MARKER
IN LOCK HAVEN

Lock Haven, Pa.—A marker, built from the stones in the old canal lock from which the city received its name has been erected here by the Clinton County Historical Association. Sarah Quigley, descendant of a well-known pioneer family of this section, unveiled the monument. Rev. J. Merrill Williams gave a brief sketch of the life of Jerry Church, founder of the city, in whose memory the marker was placed.

Fox Terrier Is Record Traveller

Williamsport, Pa.—“Mickey,” a two year old fox terrier belonging to Tom Y. Wilkinson, a traveling salesman, is believed to be the most active canine traveller in the state. He accompanies his master on every trip, riding in all sorts of conveyances and averages 1,500 miles a month. On one occasion he enjoyed an airplane flight at Renovo, Pennsylvania, and liked the trip so well he had to be coaxed from the plane.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By the Shadow

Saturday afternoon on Nixon field the classes of '28 and '29 re-enacted the battle of Gettysburg in great style. The two classes came on the field with mixer feelings, the Sophs with self-satisfied superiority and the Frosh feeling like the food for the lions.

There was a large crowd upon the festive grounds. The stands were a maze of colors, supplied mostly by the co-eds who were out in force. If Caesar, the great Roman cowboy, could have come to life on Saturday he would have thought it was a Roman holiday. Everybody came out to see the slaughter and outside of the respective classes the crowd didn't seem to care who did the slaughtering. Some wise cracker in the dusty past once said that “Everything comes to him that waits.” The bozo knew whereof he spoke for the crowd waited and waited and finally they got results.

The two classes had their strongest men singled out and with a baker's dozen or so on each end of a piece of Manila hemp the referee clarified the tug-of-war ready to start. The more experienced Sophs dug a big hole in which to put their anchor man, one “Fats” Heckler, whom they thought could never be pulled out once he was in. When everything was all set they received the signal and as you read in the papers—“They're Off.” But they weren't, they hardly moved although both teams pulled hard enough to tear down Cottage Hall. Back and forth they struggled but the Freshmen must have come from the place where men are men for they pulled the Sophs over the line like Congress pulls the wool over the people.

Position is everything in life so the belligerents changed sides. The Sophs gallantly filled up the cave that they had dug for Heckler so the meek and polite Frosh could not take advantage of it. Again the men caught hold of the hemp and pulled. This time it was a little better. The Sophs were like Mack Sennetts bathing beauties, they were in great form. With a determined haul they invited the Freshman over to see them, much against the latter wish. Score: 1:1.

This pull was known as the rubber and the way the rope stretched it looked like rubber. This time it was a battle royal. For a long time both teams did everything but hitch a Ford on one end of the rope. Finally the Frosh succeeded in getting the Sophs on the run and pulled them over the line. Thus was won by the yearlings the first event of the day.

The big pushball was then rolled out on the field. About thirty-five from each class lined up on each end of the field and five of the tallest held the ball up in the center of the field. When the whistle blew the men raced toward the middle of the field as though there was a hundred dollar gold piece waiting for the first man. The two teams socked the big ball harder than Firpo hit Dempsey. The big sphere was finally pushed out of bounds. In fact pushing it out of the field of play seemed to be the order of the day. It was returned and again both sides tore at the ball like a starving shark goes after a man's leg. With a lot of pushing and almost as much yelping the Frosh gained the first score in this phase of the contest. The remaining two skirmishes were but repetitions of the first but don't take from this statement, there was any pie or cake served while it was going on. Both teams fought as if their staying in school depended on their winning a victory. The Sophs scored their points in the second round and the Frosh copped the last tussle. Following this came the shoe rush. It was rumored that there was one real good pair of shoes in the pile and the combatants must have believed it for the way they dove into the pile was a sight for sore eyes. The second year men having a year's practice in getting their shoes on in a hurry to get to chapel won this contest. However the Freshman copped the pennant for the day winning two contests out of three.

It was a great day and brought together for the first time as an organized unit the class of '29. It seems to be rapidly acquiring the necessary spirit and bids fair to make a name for itself before graduation time rolls around.

“No Cut System”

Gettysburg College is going to try a new plan this year to keep the men in school. It involves the idea that not a man is supposed to skip a class unless he has a valid excuse. The students are now staying up late at nights endeavoring to think up some “valid excuses.” According to an unofficial interpretation from a member of the faculty the system will be worked more or less from the schoolastic standpoint. That is if a student can cut his classes now and then and still keep up in his work to the satisfaction of the professor there will be no kick made. But on the other hand if a student is low in his subjects and cuts his classes then the fireworks will start.

The Theta Phi fraternity have moved from the campus and are now occupying the house that was vacated when Dr. Parsons left. It is rumored that some sorority will “carry-on” in the old home of the Theta Phi's.

See

M. E. FUNT

333 Baltimore street

for

General Building

Contracting.

THIS NIGHT
may convince you

Sallow skin is more than skin deep. For that tired, worn out listless feeling, keep your stomach, liver and bowels free from indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

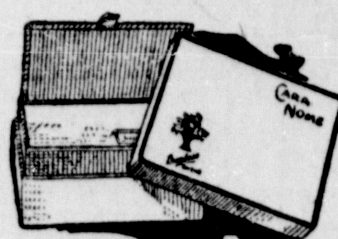

Chamberlain's Tablets

will keep you clean inside. Take two tonight. They will not make you sick and you will feel good tomorrow. Only 25 cents.

Sold everywhere For Sale by the Peoples Drug Store.

SAVE with SAFETY
at your Rexall
DRUG STORE

CARA NOME
FACE POWDER

The master odor of Cara Nome is blended into this wonderful, soft complexion powder.

More and more each day women are discovering the secret of youthful, fresh appearance. The answer is Cara Nome Face powder. It is preferred by the most particular women.

Peoples Drug Store

The Rexall Store
Gettysburg, Pa.

The Strand
MONDAY, TUESDAY,
WEDNESDAY
Whole Comedy Show
HAROLD LLOYD
in
HOT WATER

The funniest picture he ever made, every foot a scream.

Also

A Mack Sennett comedy featuring Ben Turpin.
Adults 35c, Children 15c
Friday, Saturday

FRED THOMPSON

in
“THE BANDITS BABY”

Lincoln Way Theatre
(TWO DAYS ONLY)
The treat of the season
Gettysburg has never seen such a spectacle.
First showing at low admissions
William Fox Presents
The modern version of
DANTES INFERNO
Note: Account of great length no other subject will be shown.
Don't miss this one.
Wednesday
Viola Dana, Raymond Griffith and Theodore Roberts.
in
FORTY WINKS
The greatest comedy that has ever come to the screen.

De Luxe Motor Coach Service

—BETWEEN—

Gettysburg & Baltimore

TIME TABLE

Southbound (Read Down)	Northbound (Read Up)
7:30 a. m. 3:00 p. m. Leave Gettysburg	Arrive 12:00 Noon 7:30 p. m.
7:50 a. m. 3:20 p. m. Arrive Littlestown	Leave 11:40 7:10 p. m.
8:00 a. m. 3:30 p. m. arrive Silver Run	Leave 11:30 7:00 p. m.
8:06 a. m. 3:36 p. m. arrive Union Mills	Leave 11:24 6:54 p. m.
8:20 a. m. 3:50 p. m. arrive Westminster	Leave 11:10 6:40 p. m.
8:45 a. m. 4:15 p. m. arrive Reisterstown	Leave 10:45 6:15 p. m.
9:30 a. m. 5:00 p. m. arrive Baltimore	Leave 10:00 5:30 p. m.

ONE WAY FARES

	Silver Run	Union Mills	Westminster	Reisterstown	Baltimore
Between Littlestown and	.25	.35	1.00	1.25	2.00
Between Gettysburg and	.50	.60	1.25	1.50	2.25

No Passengers Carried Between Pennsylvania Points or Between Maryland Points.

Reservations May Be Made At Hotel Gettysburg

United Railways & Electric Company
OF BALTIMORE

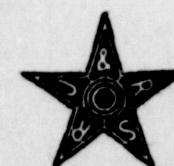

Gettysburg Terminal — Baltimore Terminal
Hotel Gettysburg Baltimore and St. Paul Streets

Father Knows
“Star Brand Shoes
Are Better”

Yes he does—

he knows that good solid leather is the only material with which to make shoes that will wear well, look well, and cost less in the end.

So when father buys shoes for the family, he's particular to look for the star on the heel, then he knows he's buying

“STAR BRAND”
Solid Leather Shoes

and he gets them at

HARRY VIENER'S STORE

30 York Street, Gettysburg, Pa.

Your Last Year's Hat Belongs With Last Year's License Plates

The highway department changes the colors on you every year—and now the manufacturers of men's hats are getting smart too. This Spring's shapes so different that a 1924 block can be spotted two blocks away—even by an amateur. The choicest here—includes your choice.

$2.50 to $5.00

The New Caps

$1.50 and $2.00

LESTZ'S

Shoe, Style and Comfort Specialists

On the Square since 1902